Schedule of Changes to Delegations by Council Resolution 1557

Council has the ability to delegate many of its decision-making powers under the Local Government Act and a number of other Acts. The primary purpose of delegating powers and responsibilities is in order to provide a quicker and more efficient decision-making process resulting in a higher level of customer service than would otherwise be provided.

Under the Local Government Act 1999, the Council may elect to delegate its powers and responsibilities to the Chief Executive Officer who then may subdelegate his powers and responsibilities to other responsible staff. The Council may also delegate its powers and responsibilities to any employee or a Committee of Council. The various subdelegations are also maintained in this register but may be varied by the CEO, a General Manager or a relevant subdelegate from time to time. Other Acts provide circumstances when a power may be delegated. In such instances a power may only be delegated when the relevant Act specifically allows this to occur (see table on next page).

Section 44 (3) of the Local Government Act 1999 sets out the specific matters that cannot be delegated.
The Local Government Act addresses the following matters regarding delegations:

- When an Officer of Council acts under and in accordance with delegated power that Officer acts with the authority of Council and in the place of Council
- A delegation of power by Council does not prevent Council from continuing to exercise the power. However, when a delegate has exercised the power in a particular matter, Council cannot also exercise its power in that same matter
- The delegation of power can be revoked at any time
- All delegations and any relevant subdelegations to an employee of the Council or to an employee of the Council for the time being occupying a particular office or position are revoked once that person is no longer an employee of the Council
- The delegation can be made subject to conditions and the delegate can only act in accordance with the conditional power
- The delegated power will also be limited by the terms of the Section of the statute, which enables the power. Where a power is delegated to a specific office holder, any person occupying that office can exercise the power
- Where a power is delegated to the Chief Executive Officer, that power can be subdelegated, unless otherwise directed by Council in the original delegation
- If the power is delegated to any officer other than the Chief Executive Officer, the power cannot be subdelegated, unless that is approved by Council in the terms of the original delegation
- Where a power is delegated to an employee of the Council, the employee is responsible to the Chief Executive Officer for the efficient and effective exercise of the power
- The Council must ensure that a record is kept of all delegations and should review the delegations in force at least once every financial year. The record of delegations must be kept available for inspection by the public.

The delegations within this register have been delegated to the Chief Executive Officer of Council and the General Manager unless otherwise indicated. Council has granted that the delegations issued to the Chief Executive Officer will also apply to the person occupying the position of Chief Executive Officer and/or person(s) occupying the position of General Manager unless otherwise instructed.

Each General Manager may subdelegate any power or duty that they have been granted by way of this Instrument of Delegations (Register) unless otherwise specifically restricted. Generally, General Managers will subdelegate to positions within their relevant portfolios, but in certain circumstances (e.g. illness, leave, working offsite, unexpected absences etc.), this function may be performed by the CEO or other General Managers. Only the originator making the subdelegations may vary the subdelegations, unless otherwise authorised by Council.

Legislative Powers of Delegation

Authorisations and subdelegations under the Road Traffic Act 1961, in accordance with the Notice to the Council dated 22 August 2013 from the Minister for Transport and Infrastructure, Council authorises officers to exercise, for, and on behalf of the Council, the power conferred on the Council pursuant to the clauses of the Instrument in relation to the Road Traffic Act 1961.
