Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (Cth)
The purpose of the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 is to eliminate, as far as possible, discrimination against persons on the ground of disability in a certain areas, including access to premises.

Section 23 of the Act relates to access to premises and provides that it is unlawful for the Council to discriminate against another person on the ground of that person’s disability in relation to the provision of means of access to premises.
