EXHIBITION CELEBRATES HOME GARDENS

The green thumbs of Tea Tree Gully are celebrated in an exhibition at Tea Tree Gully Library from 22 September to 29 January.

Garden Instinct is a community-based exhibition of stories and photographic portraits of eight local gardeners, whose lives have been enriched by their gardens.

The exhibition was originally created for a SALA exhibition at Gallery 1855 earlier this year.

The exhibition will also be shown at the Golden Grove Arts Centre from 5 February to 31 March 2018.

Fun times ahead for kids

Come the October school holidays, children can participate in a variety of fun sensory and nature play activities.

Make stuff with leaves, mud and spaghetti at the library on Wednesday 11 October, 10am-1pm (bookings essential).

Visit Surrey Downs Community centre on Thursday 5 October for nature art or to explore the sensory bare feet path (bookings essential).

There will also be piles of sand, dirt, rocks, sticks, logs, straw and pebbles in Illayarie Reserve, Surrey Downs, for youngsters to indulge in messy, unstructured play throughout the holidays.

Visit the link below for a complete list of school holiday activities.
